

Mission Ready Package (MRP) – Shelter Operations Support Team

What is a Shelter Support MRP?

The Shelter Support Mission Ready Package (MRP) is a team of trained and credentialed Rocky Mountain Medical Reserve Corps (MRC) volunteers who provide essential assistance to existing shelter management teams during emergencies. These volunteers ensure shelters run smoothly, efficiently, and compassionately to meet the needs of displaced individuals and families.

Our Mission

Disasters and emergencies can displace communities, leaving many in need of temporary shelter. The Shelter Support Team works to:

- Assist in shelter operations and logistics.
- Provide basic health and wellness support to shelter residents.
- Enhance coordination between shelter staff and local response agencies.
- Promote safety, comfort, and dignity for those seeking refuge.

Services Provided

The Shelter Support MRP team is equipped to:

- Help with shelter registration and intake processes.
- Support daily shelter operations, including distributing supplies and managing communal spaces.
- Provide basic first aid and wellness checks in coordination with shelter medical staff.
- Address the needs of vulnerable populations, including children, elderly individuals, and those with access or functional needs.
- Collaborate with local shelter management teams to address challenges and improve services.

Who Are We?

Our Shelter Support Team includes trained volunteers from diverse backgrounds, including healthcare, logistics, and community support. These individuals undergo specialized training in shelter management principles and are committed to serving their communities during times of crisis.

Why the Shelter Support MRP is Essential

- Scalable Support: Our team strengthens existing shelter staff, especially during high-demand emergencies.
- Community-Centered Care: We focus on providing compassionate and culturally sensitive assistance to displaced individuals and families.
- Streamlined Operations: By working alongside shelter management, we enhance efficiency and coordination in shelter environments.
